

The Muslim students here at UCLA reflect a kaleidoscope of diverse ethnicities, each tied by the beauty of Islam. Although we enjoy different foods, speak different languages, and possess unique features, we all pray towards the Ka'bah as one. We may not be the same externally, but our hearts collectively beat for Allah (SWT). This spread displays varying regions across the world — from parts of Asia to Africa — that our fellow Bruins proudly come from. Modeling in their traditional attire, these students showcase the beautiful cultures within our religion. Be proud of your faith and own your roots, always.
